Withdrawal requests are executed within 1 business day if they are valid (i.e., correctly filled by the client and sufficient funds exist in the trading account).

Once the withdrawal is executed by the side of the company it may take some additional days to reach the client's bank account according to the banking institution that the client is banking with. Generally, bank withdrawals for local transfers take between one to three business days and international transfers can take up to five business days.

If you are withdrawing funds to your payment card, it will take your card issuer one to six business days to credit this back to your account.

This Withdrawal request form must be sent to support@ozios.com to ensure prompt processing of your request.
